NUM. 5048

SATURDAY, JUNE 22, 1745.

Bologna, June 8.

THE Austrian Army was to pass the Po Yesterday and to Day in order to march into the Pavezan, and the Barks necessary for raising a Bridge are at the Mouth of the Ticino, in case there should be any Occasion for them. We are inform'd that the First and Second Column of Troops that were to march from Tyrol, are actually in Modena, and will very speedily join the Army. It is now a Secret, that the Command of the Army has arrived to Prince Lobkowitz by a Concurrence of accidents. The Party form'd against him at first at a Loss who to recommend, till at last sought General Bathian, for whom they knew he had a great Regard. The Friends of Prince Lobkowitz did not oppose this Nomination, because they saw it was to no purpose; on the contrary, they raised the Credit of that General, as to recommend him, by that Means, to the rest of the Allies; which had the Effect they expected, and preferred Prince Lobkowitz in his Command, without his seeming so much as to desire it.

June 12. On the 9th her Majesty, accompanied by the Grand Duke of Tuscany, and the Prince of Lorraine, went to pay a Visit to the Empress Dowager. The young Count Starckenberg, who arriv'd from Silesia, assures us, that the Hungarians the Prussians no Rest, and scarce permit them to go without the Walls of their fortified Places. It was ago since they made themselves Masters of them, where they made the Prussian Garrison Prisoners, and carried off 14 Pieces of Cannon. It is the Kind of Expedition that the Prussians are more afraid of the Insurgents, than of the regular Troops that can be brought against them. Before Yesterday the Queen went to the Garden of Schwartzzenberg, in order to see the Prince Charles, and the youngest of the Archdukes. The Adjutant-General of Prince Charles of Saxony here the same Day, and has brought with him an Account of the late Action, which will be published To-morrow; and it is now acknowledged, that there are about 9000 Men, and the Saxons 10000. There was some Days ago a Rumour, if the British Minister, Sir Thomas Robinson, was to be promoted from this Court to that of Munich, in order to have enter'd into a Negotiation with the Elector Bavaria's Ministers, on the Head of a Treaty of Subordination; but it has been since agreed, that this Affair shall conclude here with Count Sinsheim, who has received full Powers from his Electoral Highness of Bavaria for the Purpose.

Dulac, June 3. The King has lately received some Advice from Petersbourg, with which he seems to be extremely well satisfied. We are preparing with all possible Diligence to give the Prussians a warm Reception, in case they should actually invade our Territories, which seems to be their Design. The Count de Brühl did not retire from hence before he had examined every Part of his Commission; and, consequently, exactly in what Disposition this Court stood, with respect to the Empire. He went so far, as to intimate to the Count de Brühl, that it was not at all to be wondered, if the Polish Majesty desired the Territory of Prussia, because of its uniting, in some Measure, his own and the Electoral Dominions; but that it was also his intention to endeavour to acquire this, by making a Treaty with the Queen of Hungary, when both the King, and the Possession, were in his Prussian Majesty; which, very possibly, might be as willing, as well as more ready to oblige his Majesty in that Respect, as the King to whom he applied. It was expected that this Proposition would have drawn on a Negotiation, if it did not; and the Evening before his Departure, Count de Cagnoni could not help saying; My Predecessor, the Count de Bees, will gain no small Reputation by the Character he gave the King of this Court, the Prince, and his Ministry, equally inflexible, and therefore I shall leave it without any Reluctance; it is very probable, when I return next, I shall be better received. It is certain, that an Hour or two before his Departure, he sent a Cabinet full of Papers to the Hague.

Cologne, June 22. The Baron de Hesse-Dryborn, General to his Serene Highness, our Elector, and of Mentz, pass'd through this City Yesterday, in his Way from Augsburg to Hanover; whither he is going, to compliment his Britannick Majesty on his Arrival in his German Dominions. After the March of the Allied Army, the Münsterian Troops that were encamped in the Neighbourhood of Siegen, immediately retired back again into Westphalia.

Extract of a Private Letter from the Hague, dated June 25th, 1745.

'It is evident, that instead of clearing up, our Political Prospect becomes more and more cloudy every Day. The Number of Swedish Volunteers sent to the Prussian and French Armies, and the Inactivity of Denmark, shews too plainly the Disposition of those Courts, notwithstanding their great Obligations to the Maritime Powers.

'By the Behaviour of the French Minister here, we plainly discover how full his Court is of the entire Execution of the Designs formed at the Beginning of the Campaign, and this at our Expence; notwithstanding the sounding Professions of Friendship and good Neighbourhood so often repeated, and which, it seems, mean nothing.

'The Prussian Minister, Count de Podevils, is recalled, and actually preparing for his Departure. We look upon this as no good Omen, as to the Intentions of his Master, who seems more disposed to augment, than to extinguish the Troubles that distract all Europe; and in so doing, afflict all here who wish well to the State.'

Certainly nothing can be a clearer Proof of the Excellency of any Commodity, than the Approbation it meets with if so.

THE ENGLISH GRAPE BRANDY may justly claim a Superiority over all other British Productions, from the constant and large Demands the Company have from all Parts of the Kingdom.

To convince the Curious how fitly it is adapted to all manner of Mixtures, there is now prepared a large Quantity of SHERRY with the said BRANDY, and ORANGES when in the greatest Perfection; which is no Way inferior (either as a Liqueur, or for Punch) to that made with the best Cognac.

Sherry at 6s. per Gallon, Brandy at 4s. per Gallon; At the Warehouse the Bottom of Barth-lomew-Lane, near the Royal Exchange.

Sixpence per Gallon allow'd to those who take half a Hogshead, or upwards.

SCHWANBERG's LIQUID-SHED To be DEPENDED UPON in the GRAVEL and STONE

THE Rev. Dr. HALES, and others, have demonstrated by various Experiments, That the Virtue of Mrs. Stevens's Medicine for the GRAVEL and STONE, depends upon the SALTS of Lime in the Alcan Salt calcin'd Shells; but its enormous Dose renders it hard to take, and almost impossible to take it in a manner sufficient to answer any good End. This then, will inform such Persons who are afflicted with the GRAVEL and STONE, that the Marquis Schwaberg, a learned and ingenious Gentleman, versed in the most abstruse Operations of Chemistry, has found a method of Liquifying calcin'd Shells, so as to become liquid Rock-water, yet not corrosive. They give almost instant Relief in the most violent Pains of the GRAVEL and STONE, persisted in, will, in time, bid fair for dissolving a Stone in the Urinary Passages, when too large to pass otherwise. This may be depended on in the Wind-Colic, and all kinds of Tumulences; and, where an Alæah is wanting, will answer the fixed End. A Child may take them in the Mouth, in Gripes, Fevers, and Uneasinesses, which Children are subject to, in Acidities, the known Cause of most of their Disorders.

It is remarkable, That those who take them for the STONE, have a Sediment in their Urine resembling white Chalk: Now, that this Sediment is a Portion of the Stone to be dissolved, it is evident from an Experiment in the Power of one to make it, put an human STONE, form'd in the Urinary Passages, into a Vial of the LIQUID-SALT, and it will gradually dissolve into a White Powder, exactly resembling that the Urine of Persons who take it as a Medicine for the STONE, and this in an Heat not greater than that of the Body, at the same time, not in the least affect an human Hair put into it; and, which surprisingly will, upon the Application of an Acid, be instantly converted into a Snow-white Powder.

To be had of the Proprietor W. Baker, at his House in Holborn, near Katherine-street in the Strand; and, by his Agents, R. Lee, Stationer, under the Statuary, facing St. Jacons-Inn in Fleet-street; and of John Newbery, at the Golden Ball, in Castle-Alley, near the Royal Exchange, London; at his Printing-Office in Reading, or 1 s. 6 d. the small Vial.
